Friends of Cin-Cin:

Happy Birthday Mom! Sorry folks, had to do a shout out to my mom as it is her birthday. Ok, on to our scheduled program. Yes, you can own a restaurant and still watch all your favorite TV shows like Entourage and Iron Chef. That's the beauty of having a Digital Video Recorder. In case you haven't seen Cin-Cin's facebook page or our staff's individual facebook pages...we've had 2 celebrities dine with us at Cin-Cin over the last 5 days. It has been exciting for all of us and I wanted to share the news.

Cin-Cin Celebrity Diner Number 1: Adrian Grenier, June 5

Just look at those piercing blue eyes and tell me you wouldn't get a little nervous! Anyway, it was a busy Saturday for us - we had a great Dry Creek Valley Wine tasting last Saturday afternoon. I signed Chef Chris up to serve food for an event later in the evening celebrating the California premier of Teenage Paparazzo. The documentary was written and directed by HBO's Entourage star, Adrian Grenier. He was in Los Gatos promoting the movie and raising funds for distribution. The reception for Teenage Paparazzo took place at the Los Gatos Museum on Tait/Main. Being a HUGE fan of Entourage, I was so hoping that Adrian would stop by to have dinner at Cin-Cin. Chef Chris worked his magic at the reception and Adrian ate 6 wild mushroom empanadas. Chef Chris suggested to Adrian's handlers that they should all come to dinner at Cin-Cin. And, so they did! That made my night along with several other on lookers. Your's truly got to meet Adrian and shake his hand. (He is very thin). And yes, he is very cute, although he had a more conservative hair cut. Adrian enjoyed our Passionfruit Caipirinha and noshed on several shared plates. Our staff was very excited and they were found texting and facebooking throughout the evening. All had a good time.

Cin-Cin Celebrity Diner Number 2: Iron Chef Morimoto, June 9

Chef Morimoto originally intended to dine at a Michelin Star restaurant a block away, but was turned away because he had golf shorts on. I wonder if that restaurant is kicking itself now? The restaurant referred him to Cin-Cin and we were happy to have him dine with us! Chef Morimoto enjoyed our Japanese beer, some vodka, shrimp and calamari and pork sliders.

Celebrity sightings are exciting, but we know it's our loyal customers like you who keep us in business. Our innovative food, wine and cocktail offering attract people looking for adventure. And, we have one of the best late night dining offerings around. Both celebrities came in after 9:30 to dine. Come by and dine with Cin-Cin more frequently....you never know who will be sitting next to you!

We look forward to giving you the celebrity experience.

Cin-Cin!

Lisa
